Sept. 2, 2014/REJournals.com/ --Tinley Park, Ill.-based MACK Companies, a full-service redeveloper and one of the largest owners and managers of real estate rentals in the Chicago area, has ranked 958th among Inc. magazine's "Inc. 5000," which lists the fastest-growing companies in the United States. MACK Companies' revenue grew 471 percent over the past three years, totalling more than $46 million in 2013. Within the real estate industry, the firm ranked as the ninth-fastest-growing firm in the Midwest and 36th nationwide. "To be recongized among the top 10 real estate firms in the Midwest, and the top one-fifth of all companies in the country, is the result of the hard work and commitment of everyone at MACK Companies," said James McClelland, chief executive officer and co-founder of MACK Companies. "Leveraging our team's experience, knowledge and passion for real estate has allowed us to grow exponentially in both the residential and commercial sectors, becoming a leading full-service redevelopment firm on a national scale." Over the past three years, MACK Companies has more than doubled its workforce, growing to six divisions and offering a full complement of residential and commercial real estate services, including investment, construction and brokerage. In July, the firm moved into a new 30,000-square-foot campus just blocks from its previous headquarters in the historic Fulton House. MACK Companies purchased the new headquarters building, Centennial Place, in 2013 and performed the custom redevelopment.
